Grasslands Club, which sits on Old Hickory Lake just north of Nashville, is nearing the completion of one of the largest capital investments in its seven-year history.

The Fairvue Clubhouse is undergoing a $12 million renovation expected to be complete in January, according to a press release.

“Our vision is to respect the history of Fairvue while creating a modern, elevated experience for today’s members,” Bob Goodall, co-owner of the club, said. “The terrace will showcase one of the most beautiful settings in Middle Tennessee and will quickly become a favorite gathering place.”

The plans include reimagined dining spaces, a new terrace overlooking Old Hickory Lake and expanded indoor and outdoor bar areas.

The Fairvue renovation is a piece of a multiyear investment plan that launched in 2021 and totaled over $30 million. Other aspects to the plan included an 8,000-square-foot event center, a domed racquet sports facility, a nine-hole short golf course, an indoor five-bay TrackMan golf training facility and more.

“These investments underscore our ongoing commitment to reinvesting in the member experience,” Jim Ausley, chief operating officer of Grasslands Club, said in the release. “We are creating spaces that reflect the excellence our members expect and deserve.”

Grasslands Club offers two 18-hole golf courses, two clubhouses with pools, fitness center, dining and events.

The seeds for Grasslands Club were planted in 1832 with the construction of the Fairvue Mansion and in 1836 with the completion of Foxland Hall.
